MARYLAND

The University of Maryland at College Park (UMPC) is described as a Georgian colonial campus with nearly 200 classrooms, library, laboratory and residential buildings. The 1,378 acre campus resembles a park-like setting equipped with malls, courtyards and groves.

An undergraduate student may specialize in one of 127 majors or create a program of individual studies. Pre-professional education is offered in 15 fields and the academically talented student may take advantage of the Honors Program.

The prestigious Association of American Universities counts the University of Maryland among its 50 members. As such, Maryland is within the academic top 10 percent of all colleges and universities nationwide.

As a major state university campus, College Park attracts many faculty of national and international reputation. The teacher staff consists of over 6,000 personnel, which brings the student/professor ration to 16:1 - as low as many small colleges. More than 70 percent of all undergraduate classes hold fewer than 30 students. Large lecture courses include small group discussion sections or laboratory sessions, all providing the opportunity for students to work closely with their instructors - an attribute that is critical to a quality education.

The University of Maryland at College Park also boasts of a highly successful athletic program. In the last eight out of ten years the Maryland football team has participated in such prestigious bowl games as the Peach Bowl, Liberty Bowl, Gator Bowl, Cotton Bowl, Hall of Fame Bowl, Sun Bowl, Tangerine Bowl, Aloha Bowl and the Citrus Bowl. The men's and women's basketball teams have repeatedly reached the NCAA Tournament and have been ranked consistently among the nation's best. The total athletic program at Maryland consists of 20 varstiy sports, 9 for women and 11 for men. These sports have succesfully participated on the regional and national levels. All Terrapin athletic teams compete in Division 1 of the National Collegeiete Athletic Association (NCAA).

1986 GOLF

A team high in experience but low in depth faces coach Fred Funk in his fourth season coaching at Maryland. Funk has 10 golfers returning from the squad that finished 7th in the ACC last spring.

Last year the Terps won the James Madison/Campbell tournament and the University of Maryland Terrapin Spring Classic.

However, this year Funk will be without the 73.1 average of Mike Kavka, who finished 8th in the ACC as a freshman last season. Kavka is sitting out the season for academic reasons.

Senior John Haddock is the squad's top player. Haddock had a 74.1 average last year. Funk said he has an excellent short game and is a fierce competitor.

Funk is hoping for good seasons from Don Slebodnik and Joe Hoffman, whom average around 75. Slebodnik, a sophomore, has great control and the newcomer Hoffman is a strong hitter and a good putter.

A key to the season could be the eligibility of transfer Jim Estes. He was the #1 player at the University of Tennessee and is the best amateur in Maryland, according to Funk. Estes is waiting to see if he is eligible for this season under NCAA transfer rules.

Funk believes Maryland golf is one or two years from competing with the top teams in the talented ACC. Funk has signed two talented recruits for next year, one from Massachussetts and the other from Indiana. In addition, Estes should be eligible next year and Kavka should return.

Funk admits even with the forseen improvement it will be difficult to reach the top in the ACC. Last year Wake Forest was #2 in the nation, Georgia Tech was #3 and North Carolina #5. Duke, North Carolina State and Clemson are always competitive.

THE COACH

Fred Funk is a 1980 graduate of the University of Maryland with a BA in Law Enforecement. As a member of the University of Maryland's golf team, Funk was chosen MVP his junior and senior years. He also won the Maryland inter-collegiates twice.

After college Funk turned pro and played on mini-tours. Funk was the 1983 Maryland Open Champion, the 1983 Mid-Atlantic Player of the Year and won the National Assistants Championship in 1984. Funk has been Golf Coach at Maryland since July 1982.
